Background

Smart specialization is largely about the policy process to select and prioritize fields or areas where a cluster of activities should be developed. Setting priorities, selecting fields always entail risks for policy makers, thus hindering the entrepreneurs to discover the right domains of future specializations.

It will be an inclusive and interactive bottom-up process in which participants from different environments (policy, research, business, academia, etc.) will discover and produce information about potential new activities, identifying potential opportunities for the local triangles of knowledge that emerge through this interaction, while policymakers assess outcomes and ways to facilitate the realization of this potential. The roundtable pursues the integration of entrepreneurial knowledge fragmented and distributed over many sites and organizations, companies, universities, clients and users, specialized suppliers through the building of connections and partnerships. The roundtable consists of the exploration and opening up of a new domain of opportunities (technological and market), potentially rich in numerous innovations that emerge as feasible and attractive.

Objectives of the round table:

- ❖ To increase knowledge and experience of participants on the Roundtable's issues;
- ❖ To disseminate information among the stakeholders and wider public through mass-media;
- ❖ To inform national / regional authorities and the adequate EU structure about problems and perspectives on Roundtable's issues through dissemination of the experts' contributions and recommendations;
- ❖ To engage academics and youth/incl. students, civil and business society organizations in the dialogue with policy-makers regarding the implementation of the "knowledge triangle" in Moldova and involvement of all target groups in the policy dialogue, knowledge exchange.
